Keiretsu Forum Announces San Francisco Angel Capital Expo

SAN FRANCISCO, CA--(Marketwire - March 25, 2008) - Keiretsu Forum, the world's largest angel investment community, will hold an Angel Capital Expo on Friday, April 25 from 7:30am to 3:30pm at the PG&E Auditorium in downtown San Francisco.

Angel Capital Expo is the premier gathering of angel investors and entrepreneurs. More than 400 active and respected angel investors will attend the Expo on April 25. In addition to Keiretsu Forum's Bay Area members, members from Keiretsu Forum Seattle/Northwest, Denver/Rockies, Southern California, Barcelona, and London will attend the all-day event.

Angel Capital Expo will feature twelve presentations from early stage companies in technology, life sciences, consumer products, clean tech, real estate, financial services, social ventures, and other segments with high growth potential. All presenters will be pre-screened by a select committee of Keiretsu Forum members.

"Since Keiretsu Forum members have expressed interest in clean technology, we expect several clean tech companies to be among the presenters, and we look forward to a keynote speech by Hal LaFlash, PG&E's Director of Emerging Clean Technology Policy," said Colin Wiel, Co-President of Keiretsu Forum San Francisco and North Bay.

Each entrepreneur will make a 15-minute presentation and will be available for additional discussion and due diligence at an executive booth throughout the day. Following the presentations, the attendees will vote and award the top three presenting companies the "Most Valued Company" award.

"I never understood the true power and benefit of an organized, institutional angel investment network until I came to Keiretsu Forum and presented at the Angel Capital Expo," said Chris Romine, the CEO of S.two, the "Most Valued Company" winner at the Silicon Valley Angel Capital Expo in November 2007. "Keiretsu Forum truly understands the value of an entrepreneur's time and has created the most efficient and effective way for an early stage start-up company to raise the capital necessary to take their company to the next level."

"Innovation is the lifeblood of the California economy, and the Angel Capital Expo will be a valuable opportunity for both entrepreneurs and investors to come together," said Matthew Le Merle, Co-President of Keiretsu Forum San Francisco and North Bay.
